

How to attract birds to the garden:

The first step is to plant native trees and shrubs to provide food and shelter. You can leave out extra food, but experts warn against the birds becoming too tame or too dependent. They suggest you let the supply run out sometimes to force the birds to look for natural food. Try the following suggestions to make your garden attractive to native birds.